

OCCUPATIONAL HISTORY TAKING ATTITUDES AND BEHAVIORS

Principal Investigator: Dana Madigan, D.C.

Occupational illness and injuries are a major health burden and the large majority of occupational injuries and illnesses are musculoskeletal related. This project will describe the occupational health history behaviors of chiropractic interns at the Salvation Army Clinic and will determine if additional training or timing of the training during the internship results in changes regarding occupational health history documentation.

Funding: Internal