

PUBLIC HEALTH ISSUES RELEVANT TO CHIROPRACTIC PRACTITIONERS DURING COVID-19 PANDEMIC

Principal Investigator: Claire Johnson, D.C. Ph.D.

Currently, chiropractors' information needs about COVID-19 are unknown. The ever-changing environment and evolving scientific information about this new infectious disease is challenging for all health care providers, including chiropractic practitioners. The purpose of this study will be to identify potential information needs for chiropractors during the COVID-19 pandemic. (H-2001).
